

Giuristi Democratici

It is the moment to convene a meeting of the associations of democratic and progressive lawyers of the Mediterranean area in order to discuss common issues, exchange information and experiences, build up a network of permanent relationships and approve a Charter of principles to take as a common reference.

Among the aims of the Conference there is that of deepen and develop the various topics proposed following a precise leading thread: which is the function of lawyers in the protection of fundamental rights? Why building up a Mediterranean network becomes important? Which are the principles and practices to share? The issues are various and all equally important, from self-determination and peace, to migrations, to repression of struggle movements at European level. We propose two days of discussion, the 7th and 8th of October, with the participation of international delegations coming from various countries. The program could be as follows. The Conference should end with the adoption of a Declaration of democratic and progressive lawyers of the Mediterranean (Charter of Naples).
